

THE NEXT PHASE OF LEADERSHIP.

The Board of Trustees for Mount Nittany Medical Center and Thomas J. Murray, FACHE, announced in May that Murray's goals had been achieved, and the time had come for a new leader to take on the significant long-term commitment of executing the new strategic plan.

Murray had served as president and chief executive officer since 2001. Under his leadership, the Medical Center: signed a master affiliation with Penn State Hershey and The Pennsylvania State University; approved a master campus plan with Penn State; added specialty services and physician practices; changed its name and corporate identity from Centre Community Hospital to Mount Nittany Medical Center to signify its growth as a regional medical center; incorporated The Foundation for Mount Nittany Medical Center; launched a capital campaign to support the east wing expansion; and solidified excellence in healthcare and medicine for the region.

"Tom served this organization and community well in his leadership capacity and spearheaded significant growth and corporate positioning to give Mount Nittany the platform to accelerate healthcare for the region," said Carl Raup, chair, Board of Trustees, Mount Nittany Medical Center.
